

After installation, the Thread PAN is shared between Fabrics A and B.

Note 1 : Activation of the pending dataset is Thread stack dependent and propagation of the new dataset to all Matter devices may fail, for example if devices are disconnected during the process.

Note 2 : This configuration should remain very rare if the previous installations followed the previous use cases.