

8. The client SHALL notify the application that the server has checked-in. What this behavior implies is application specific.